

Since the early '80's ownership of major US newspapers, radio and television has been monopolized by a few corporate giants. Further monopolization is a significant loss to our democracy. Fewer voices heard is frightening to millions of citizens. Ironically we are moving toward a state not so different from what exists in Afghanistan and Iraq when we lose choice in media reporting.